
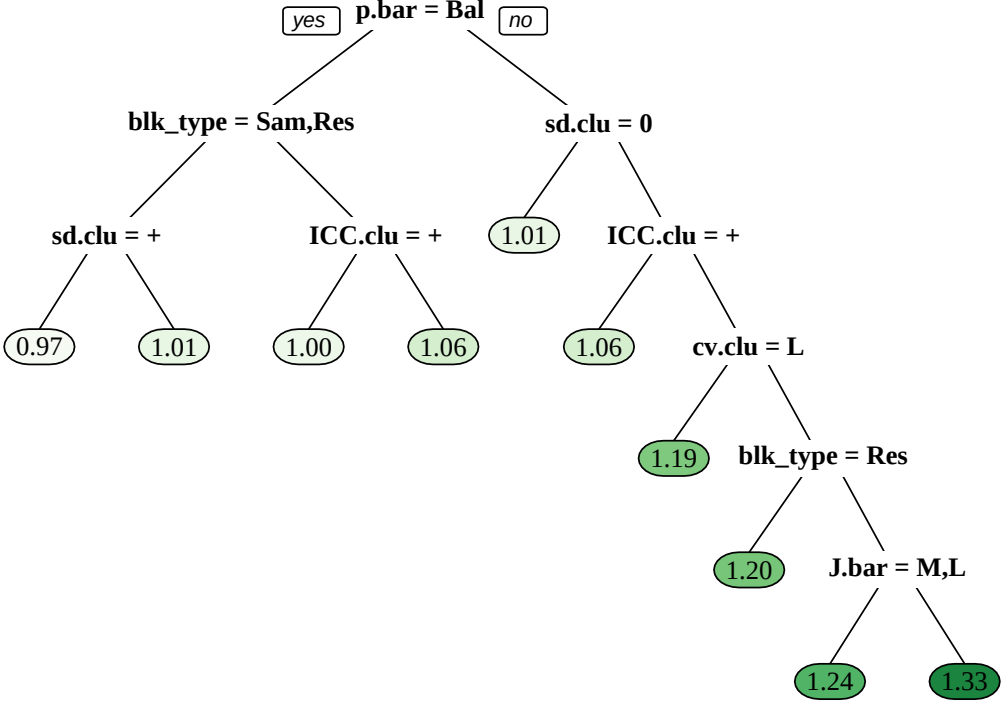

Figure 8: Regression tree which predicts the standard error inflation under different data generating parameters for the multi−level model methods